HOOFLAND'S CERMAN TONIC I and horrid diseases were thus in-

Has been provided—a preparation in which the solid extracts of the finest rectoratives of the vegetable kingdom are held in solution by a sulptinual agent, purged of all deleterious constituents. The patient, in choosing between these two great antidotes, should be guided by his own condition. If in a very low state from debitity, the Tonic should be his selection; but in cases where the emergency is not so pressing, the Bitters is the specific required. Thousands find infine— ite benefit from taking each in turn.— O There is no phase of indigestion, bilicusness, nervous disease or physical prostration to which they are not adapted, and in which singly or combined, they will not effect ours.

Ohio Statesman.

[From the Albany (N. Y.) Argus.] Suffering Among Prisoners of War.

The confirmed dyspeptic may almost say with St.
Pater, "I die daily." The object of this article is not to remind him of this panga, but to show him how to banish them to forever. The means of timediate and permanent relief are proffered him in made a written statement, showing that the mortality among the rebel prisoners at that place was fully equal, if not in excess, of that at Andersonville. He says that some 3,000 out of 11,000 lie buried there. The only water for all this crowd of men was obtained from LIVING ADVERTISEMENTS a small stream, which also furnished the only bathing facilities, and carried off of the efficacy of this matchless veg-table stomachic are to be found in every city and town in the United States—healthy men and women, rescued from forture by its of use, and eager to be at testimony to its virtue. It differs from any other Bitters in existence, in this special particular—it is not alcoholic.

For such constitutions and systems as require for their invigoration a diffusive stimu ant. the accumulation of garbage and excrecould not move or be moved without distressing each other. The matter furnished for vaccination was bad, troduced. The writer of this shocking narrative says that the same state of things prevailed in the prisons of Sandusky, Fort Delaware, &c., though there were two or three honorable exceptions. The starvation of these prisoners was not a matter of necessity, but practiced to gratify the cupidity of the rascals in a position to make money out of it. He says the trouble at Andersonville was an absolute lack of provisions—the prisoners faring nearly as well as the rebel soldiers in the field. In Texas, where food was comparatively plenty, the prisoners were well sup-plied. This revelation of a competent officer enables us to understand why the Radicals in Congress have always re-fused to investigate the treatment of prisoners confined in the North. Some day the truth will come out in spite of the efforts of partisans to make it appear that the monsters were all on the Southern side of the war. The deliberate refusal to exchange prisoners, when it was known that thousands of Union soldiers were suffering the horrors of slow starvation, will yet blacken the names of those guilty of the atrocity. The Anatomy of the Human Frame.

It might well be a matter of surprise that we should know so little of the me-chanism of the human frame. Courious-ly wrought and fashioned is the house we live in; and in the minute and careful examination of it, adoration for that Divine heart and hand which have plan-ned its mysteries should fill the heart with glad and grateful surprise and joy.
The careful investigations of anatomists disclose some curious facts, which may be of interest to the reader. In the human skeleton, about the time of ma turity, are 165 bones. The muscles are Is compose of the pure inices (or, as they are modelinally turned, Extracta, of Root, Herbs and Barks, making a preparation highly concentrated and satirely tree from Alcoholic admixture of any kind.

The amount of blood in an adult averaged. about 500 in number. The length of ages 30 pounds, or full one-fifth of the entire Weight. The heart is six inches in length, and four inches in diamater GERMAN TONIC

Is a combination of all the ingredients of the Bitters, with the purest quality of Santa Gruz Rum. Urange, etc., making one of the most pleasant and agreeable remedies ever offered to the public.

These remedies ever offered to the public at each beat two-and-a half ounces of blood are thrown out of it, 175 per Nervous Debility. Chronic Diseases of the Kidneys, and all diseases arising from a disordered Liver or stomach.

such as Constituted in the Mark of Piles, Fullness of the Midneys of the Mid contain about one gallon of air. We breathe on an average 1,200 times per hour; inhale 600 gallons of air, 14,400 liour; inhale 600 gallons of air; 14,400 gallons per day. The aggregate surface of the air cells of the lungs exceeds twenty thousand square inches, an area very nearly equal to the floor of a room twelve feet square. The average weight of the brain of an adult male is three pounds and eight ounces, of a female two pounds and four ounces. The nerves are all counted with it directly, or by the spinal marrow. These nerves, together with their branches and minute ramincations, probably exceed 10,000,000 in number. The skin is composed of three layers, and varies from one-fourth to oneeighth of an inch in thickness. Its average in an adult is estimated to be

2,000 square inches. The atmospheric pressure being about fourteen pounds to the square inch—a person of medium size is subjected to a pressure of 40,-000 pounds! Each square inch of skin contains 3,500 sweating tubes, or perspiratory pores, each of which may forth of an inch long, making an aggregate length of the entire surface of ne body of 201,166 feet, or a tile ditch for draining the body almost forty miles long. Here, then, are some of the wonders belonging to the house we inhabit. "Know Thyself" is an injunction but poorly obeyed. A more perfect knowledge—a more thorough study of the human frame—might at least lead to a better care and training and prolongation of life. Surely "we are fearfully and wonderfully made."

A Railroad Incident. C'Gris," in the Cincionati Times 1
There was a funny little episode of the car, that helped to arouse us. A Montana a young man and a young wo-man came on board of the sleeping car, and the former said, "See here, Mr. Conductor, I want one of your best bunks for this young woman and one for myself individually. One will do for us when we git to the Bluffs, hey, Marian (a playful and affectionate poke at "Ma riar' with his elbow, to which she replies, 'now, John, quit!') for you see we're goin' to git married at Mariar's uncles when we git there. We might a been married at Montanny, but we took a habit to wait till we got to the Bluffs, bein as Mariar's uncle is a minister, and they charge a gol'fired price for hitchin' folks in Montanny." Maria was assigned to one of the "best bunks," and John was given one not far away.

After a time the inmates of the car were all stowed away in their births to go through the inevitable alternations of CHARLES M. EVANS, Proprietor. sweltering and freezing.

During a stoppage of the train at one station the voice of John was heard, raised in pleading accents, all uncon-scious that the train had stopped, and heard by all when they had stopped. "Now, Ma-ri, you might give a feller go; hope to die'f I den't."

"John!—"

Just at that interesting moment a gray head protruded from a berth at the other end of the car, and an old man pried out so that all could hear, "Marier, for God's sake give John one kiss so that we can go to sleep some time to-night!!!

It is needless to remark that a peal of laughter rang from one end of the car to the other, under cover of which John slunk back to the solitary seclusion of slank back to the solitary seclusion of his "bunk," leaving Maria to the undisturbed possession of her marriage license, which she interpreted to permit no license to John, until accompanied by the proper certificate. And Marian was right no Milker of all and multes ones Treating Cars, of at a wol A new method of heating passenger curs was tried on the Connecticus River Railroad on Wednesday, It is thus described by the New Haven Journal:

A bonnet is placed on the tan of the car at each end, to catch the wind while the car is in motion, and the air rushes down the pipe in the corner inside, close to a stove which is made with a hot air jacket, and attached to a chamber formed by the heater and jacket air rounding it. On the floor of the car stands a closed have pasted filled with stands a closed box partly filled with water. The air, whether filled with dust or not, which enters the honner, rushes directly into this water box, where it is thoroughily washed, and passing into the heater, is forced in an absolute pure state into pipes that run near the floor, the whole length of the car, on each side and under the seats. At proper intervals these pipes are perforated with small holes, through which the heated and purified airles capes. The whole arrangement gaye great satisfaction to all on the care, and great satisfaction to all on the cars, and it is thought that a very great advance tage has been gained to the traveling public by this invention.

The apparatus is as easily governed, and regulated as the simplest stove, and is not at all cumbersome, but quite high and ornamental, and does not cost half as much as some attempts at a car-heat-ing apparatus. The warmth is distribu-ted equally throughout the entire leagth!! of the car, and coming low down toward: the floor will enable passengers to al-
